

Men's News Note

Dixon, CA - Sat., May 3, 2008

Fourteen men converged on Family Christian Center's old parsonage to do a complete make over on Saturday May 3, 2008. A lot of work was accomplished to get the process started to bring the house up to code. The ladies of Family Christian Center prepared a gourmet lunch for the men. Pastor Barry Carroll was elated to get this assistance from the men of CCC for this much needed improvement on the church property. According to Pastor Barry the church plans to use the house as a Youth Center when it is completed.

Contractors estimated the cost to be between $9,000 - $10,000 to either tear the house down or to bring it up to code. However, after receiving some donated materials and with the volunteer labor, we should be able to complete the work for under the $2,000 which was approved for this project by the CCC missions committee and church board.
